1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Peter Saxon on 12/22/2006.

In the claims:

In claim 1, line 11, after "reaches" insert --if no plasma blocking unit were employed, --.

In claim 15, line 10, after "reaches" insert --if no plasma blocking unit were employed, --.

2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: the above amendment removes a logical contradiction from the claims, clarifying the intent that the plasma would reach the chemical reaction inducing unit, if the plasma blocking unit was not employed, thus requiring a particular configuration of the two that has functional consequences. The amendments to the claims require a specific location configuration determined by functional effect (described in parts b & c), providing significance to the claims for their synergic effects with this combination of two units, which from the discussion and the support on pages 17-18 of the specification, appears to be beyond what would have been expected from the units separately from disclosures of similar individual units used separately, as discussed in previous prior art rejections.

Other art which is of interest to the state-of-the-art, but which is not prior art includes: Ishihara et al. (7,109,660 B2); and two Japanese references to Kanken Techno KK (Imamura et al., JP 2006-297275 A & Goto et al., JP 2006-224066 A), which discussed various techniques for treating exhaust which exits from relevant processing chambers.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
